בראשית

The creation of the universe is described day by day, ending with the creation of the Day of Rest - Shabbat. Next, we read about Adam and Chava in Gan Eden, including Chava's encounter with the serpent in which she and Adam ate the fruit of the Eitz HaDa'at Tov v'Ra. This act led to the expulsion of Adam and Chava from Gan Eden. Their sons, Kayin and Hevel, offer sacrifices to Hashem, with Hevel's sacrifice accepted while Kayin's is rejected. Kayin kills Hevel, and Kayin is banished to a lifetime of wandering the earth. The first 10 generations of humanity are recorded (from Adam through Noach), and humankind's relationship with Hashem becomes worse over time.

שמות Sh'mot

The 70 members of Yaakov's family who went down to Mitzrayim are listed, and we read about the new Par'o's oppression of Bnei Yisrael, who are enslaved by the Mitzrim. Par'o decrees that all newborn males born to Bnei Yisrael are to be drowned in the Nile River. Shifrah and Puah, the midwives, save many newborn babies from the decree. When Moshe is born, his parents, Yocheved and Amram, hide him for three months, at the end of which he is set in a basket in the river with his sister Miriam watching over him. The daughter of Par'o finds him and saves him, raising him in the palace as her own son. Many years pass, and Moshe sees the suffering of Bnei Yisrael. Moshe kills a Mitzri, and, fearing for his life, he flees to Midyan. There he marries Tziporah, one of the seven daughters of Yitro, and they have a son, Gershom. Moshe encounters the "Sneh" (Burning Bush), where Hashem commands him to return to Mitzrayim, confront Par'o, and begin the process of the Geulah from Mitzrayim. Moshe takes Tziporah and Gershom and heads to Mitzrayim. Hashem commands Moshe's brother Aharon to meet Moshe in the desert, and together Moshe and Aharon confront Par'o. Par'o responds by making things worse for Bnei Yisrael. Bnei Yisrael blame Moshe for making things worse. Hashem reassures Moshe that he will successfully lead Bnei Yisrael out of Mitzrayim.

Riddle of the Week - By Phil Chernofsky - Last week's riddle & solution (Vayechi)

Q: Eliezer and Yaakov ask for 2, which are also 2 out of 13. What did they ask for?

A: Yaakov asked Yosef to do him an act of CHESED VE'EMET and not bury him in Egypt. Eliezer asks Lavan and Betu'el to do a CHESED VE'EMET by telling him if Rivka will accept the proposal for her to be Yitzchak's wife or not. CHESED and EMET are 2 of the 13 Divine Attributes.

ParshaQuest

Vayikra ויקרא

The third book of the Torah opens with instructions for offering a burnt offering ("Korban Olah"). This offering was a bull, or male sheep, or a goat. For those without the means to offer an animal, the olah could be a Turtle Dove or common dove. Other Korbanot are also described: The Korban Mincha was made from baked, fried, or deep fried matzoh type crackers. The Korban Shlamim – the peace offering (using male or female cattle, sheep, or goats) is another. The Korban Chatat was a sin offering (for an unintentional sin). Four sin offerings are described: One for the Kohen Gadol, one for the King, one for all of Am Yisrael, and one for an individual. The Korban Asham (guilt offering) was brought when one was unsure if they have sinned.

Something to Offer

All about the offerings:

1. This group was primarily responsible for the offerings
2. This offering always consisted of flour
3. "על כל-קרבנך תקריב _____"

Riddle of the Week - By Phil Chernofsky : Solution for last week's riddle (Pekudei)

Q: The "closer" reminds us of the "big closer" and also of another "closer". Explain!

A: The "closer" (last pasuk) of Pekudei and the Book of Sh'mot ends with L'EINEI CHOL BEIT YISRAEL... similar to the "big closer" (the end of the last pasuk (line) in the Torah) - L'EINEI KOL YISRAEL. Pekudei and Sh'mot end with B'CHOL MAS-EIHEM, reminiscent of Parshat Masei, the "closer" of the Book of Bamidbar.

במדבר Bamidbar

This Sefer opens with a national census: Moshe counts all the males over the age of 20, not including Shevet Levi, and records them according to their paternal ancestry. The total number of males in the count was 603,550. The tribes are then assigned their places in B'nei Yisrael's encampment, and the order of the traveling procession is assigned. Aharon's genealogy is recorded, and then Moshe counts the Levi'im according to their three families: Gershon, Kehat, and Merari. The tasks for transporting the Mishkan are divided among the families of the Levi'im. The total number of male Levi'im aged 1 month and older was 22,000. All the first born males in the rest of the nation are counted, from the age of 1 month and older. Hashem instructs Moshe that the Levi'im are to serve Hashem in place of the first-borns, and to ensure that every first-born is redeemed either by a male Levi or with 5 silver shekels donated to the Kohanim. The family of Kehat is instructed to take responsibility for the transportation of the Keilim of the Mishkan, after the Keilim have all been covered by Aharon and his sons. The family of Kehat is instructed to be very careful to only carry the Keilim by their poles, and not to touch the Keilim themselves.

Riddle of the Week - By Phil Chernofsky : Solution for last week's riddle (Bechukotai)

Q: Where does  $100 + 100$  NOT equal 200?

A: The Torah uses the words "meah umeah", a hundred and a hundred. Usually,  $100+100=200$ . But not this time! These two words are parts of separate phrases. The Torah here (Vayikra 26:8) is talking about our power over our enemies - if we keep the mitzvot - then 5 would be able to chase away 100, and 100 (there's the 100+100) will repel 10,000.

Riddle of the Week - By Phil Chernofsky: Solution for last week's riddle (Bechukotai)

Q: Where does  $100 + 100$  NOT equal 200?

A: The Torah uses the words "meah umeah", a hundred and a hundred. Usually,  $100+100=200$ . But not this time! These two words are parts of separate phrases. The Torah here (Vayikra 26:8) is talking about our power over our enemies - if we keep the mitzvot - then 5 would be able to chase away 100, and 100 (there's the  $100+100$ ) will repel 10,000.

דברים Devarim

This Sefer opens with Moshe speaking to all of Bnei Yisrael as they stand on the edge of the Promised Land. He tells them about the events of the 40 years in the desert. He reminds them about receiving the Torah, setting up a judicial system, and how they asked to send spies to the land of Canaan before they were to enter, which led to the punishment of wandering in the desert for 40 years. He also reminds them that he will not be entering the Land with them, but Yehoshua bin Nun will take over as their leader. Moshe reminds them of their journey through the lands of Eisav, Moav, and Ammon, and he tells of the battles with Sichon and Og and the beginning of the conquest of the Promised Land, and that the conquered lands on the Eastern side of the Jordan River were given to the Tribes of Reuven, Gad, and half the Tribe of Menashe. Moshe instructs Yehoshua to view these victories as a promise that G-d will fight the wars for Bnei Yisrael.
